

Growth by integration - PollrichDLK Fan Factories

Since July 1st the companies DLK and Pollrich are presenting themselves with a new corporate identity – together! It is our goal, to provide competitive products with highest quality and service to our customers from our plants in Berlichingen and Mönchengladbach. In order to reach this goal starting from now, we are presenting ourselves as an even stronger unit: PollrichDLK Fan Factories.

The increased cooperation in all sectors of the fan industry allows us to respond flexible, fast and individually to our customers needs. Intersectoral and transnational we will now and in the future serve a large number of target groups with different application requirements. In this sense, our competences are now engaging even stronger – the product areas axial fans, smoke exhaust fans, tunnel- and car park fans, air circulation fans and industrial centrifugal fans complement perfectly to a broad product range which provides the maximum technical variety to our customers.

Our Vision: In the future, the brand PollrichDLK Fan Factories as a unit will provide a consistently high quality level, a continuous service idea and more synergy effects which cover the defined product areas.

Fulfillment – for you, from us!
